ADMIRABLE Col. Bryan! Having something to say, he said it. Having said it he quit talking. There is the whole art of successful politics.

GERMANY has sent over its talking dog Don. Now is the chance for Champ Clark's hound to have its sorrows translated into human speech.

PERHAPS one reason for the success of American athletes abroad is that while they have learned to run and swim in meters they have not learned to drink in liters.

COMPOSER Mascagni has eloped with a chorus girl, to the annoyance of his wife. The artistic temperament somehow is inclined to make a wife's position rather difficult.

DR. LONG, who was knocked out in an encounter with Colonel Roosevelt some years ago, seems to have recovered his wind and to have improved his punch in the interval.

EVEN the Senators found out that Lorimer had no right to his seat, after the people had known it all the while, and by a vote of two to one the blonde boss was unseated last Saturday afternoon.

ONLY very young, half baked, would-be "bohemians" will be affected by the exclusion of alcohol from this country. To them it was the means of raising negative idiosyncrasy to a state of positive lunacy.

PROMOTERS of the Johnson-Flynn fight assert that they lost $22,000 on the venture. This is good news as it indicates the advancing civilization of man, and will do more to stop the fighting game than any legislation.

SENOR DE LIMA, Brazilian minister to Belgium, will lecture in this country next fall and we anticipate information from him that will enable us to reduce the cost of living. He should qualify as an expert on the Lima bean, the Brazil nut and the Belgian hare.

THAT sudden shrinkage in the proportions of the feminine head is due, we are informed, to the fact that "rats" are going out and that said rodents are disappearing because they caused the indigenous hair to fall. Again the deadly comparison obtrudes. Men continue to wear hats and do other things that make them bald, while women have sense enough to forego such practices.

WM. LORIMER, of Chicago, who has been holding a seat in the U. S. Senate for two years, was by a vote of 55 to 28 ousted last Saturday afternoon. This follows a long drawn-out controversy, in which much proof was made showing that Lorimer's election was the result of expending vast sums for the corruption of legislators. It is a signal victory for decency, and shows that the American people are no longer content in their corruption.

THE first day of July the topmost piece of steel work was riveted in place on the Woolworth Building in New York. This structure is notable as being the loftiest building devoted to business purposes in the world. From the sidewalk to the top of the cupola is 750, which is 50 feet more than the height of the Metropolitan Building in this city, and 138 feet more than the height of the Singer Building tower, also in New York. The building contains fifty-five stories in the tower. It is of standard steel column and floor beam construction; but in order to take care of the enormous dead load and the great wind load, the columns are necessarily of unprecedented size.

CALIFORNIA farmers, in using vacuum cleaners to rid their fields of grasshoppers and packing the grasshoppers for poultry food, inspire the pleasing hope that human ingenuity will yet find a means of utilizing professional politicians.

Free Aviation Meet Will Be Held Next Week in Hopkinsville.

There will be happy days in Hopkinsville, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 25, 26 and 27. The citizens of Christian county's capital will give an absolutely free Aviation meet, to which everybody is invited, to celebrate the completion and successful achievements of the two great biplanes built by Ex-County Judge Charles O. Prowse.

At least three flights each afternoon will be made by DeLoyd Thompson, an intertidal young bird man and licensed operator of Chicago, who for the last two weeks has had Hopkinsville thrilled with excitement by soaring daily thousands of feet in the sky and for many miles around in the country. In some of his flights he carried a passenger. Judge Prowse has one machine for fancy exhibitions and another for passenger purpose.

There will be no charge for admission to the Aviation Field, the entire expense, heavy as it is, being borne by Hopkinsville people to entertain the people of this region and as a testimonial of the regard and pride they feel in Kentucky's only airship inventor.

There will be Kitty League baseball games each day of the meet. Application has been made for reduced rates, and it is expected that a large number of people from here will go to Hopkinsville and enjoy the gala event.

Lives of Miners Being Protected.

Washington, July 15.—That the high tide in the terrible death rate in American coal mines has been reached and passed is the confident belief of the officials of the United States Bureau of Mines.

Figures issued today by the Bureau show that 2,517 men were killed in the mines last year as against 2,834 for 1910. This shows a reduction in the number of lives lost of 317 in one year's time. The death rate in 1910 was 3.97 men in every 1,000 employed. The rate in 1911 was 3.74.

Compared with 1907, the darkest year in the history American mining, when 3,197 men lost their lives, 1911 shows a decrease of 680 in the number of men killed. It was following the record of this year that Congress authorized the government to begin investigations looking toward a reduction in the death rate and this was supplemented in 1910 by the creation of the Bureau of Mines.

Discussing the death statistics of the coal mines, Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, Director of the Bureau of Mines said: "While these latest mortality statistics in the coal mines of the country show slight improvement over the previous years, the United States has still no record to be proud of. In spite of the progress we have made, we are still far below the standard of safety that we ought to have reached."

"It is of course comforting to know that for each year since 1907 there has been a decreasing number of men killed for every million tons of coal mined, and that for every life lost we have each year taken out of the earth more tons of coal. This is an improvement in the right direction. I hope that within the next year or two we will see as great an improvement in the reduction of the number of men killed per 1,000 men employed."

"The Bureau is cooperating with the State Mine Inspectors, the mine workers and with the mine operators in an endeavor to solve many of the difficult problems connected with the coal mining industry in this country. In this effort all the above forces are cooperating in good spirit in the determination to bring about better conditions. In this cooperative effort there is also serious need of the statesmen. No branch of industry in this country is on so bad an economic basis today as is the coal mining industry, and this industry can never be placed on a satisfactory basis until, through important legislative changes, improvement in this economic basis is made possible."

It was early in 1908 that the Federal government began its investigation of the causes of mine disasters following the climax of accidents in 1907. The record for 1907 and the following years is as follows: 1907, thirty-one hundred and ninety seven men killed or 4.88 in every 1,000 employed; 1908, twenty-four hundred and forty nine killed, or 3.64 in every 1,000 employed; 1909, twenty-six hundred and sixty-eight killed, or 4 in every 1,000 employed; 1910, twenty-eight hundred and thirty-four men killed, or 3.97 in every 1,000 employed; 1911, twenty-five hundred and seventeen men killed, or 3.74 in every 1,000 employed.

Meeting Hot Weather.

Exposure to the direct rays of the sun is not the only cause of heat prostration. Old people and invalids sometimes suffer heat-stroke while sitting quietly in a shaded room, and tiny babies are great sufferers in a long hot spell. There is danger whenever intense heat is accompanied by great humidity, and a stagnant atmosphere—especially to those who sleep in poorly ventilated rooms, to those who are in feeble health, and to those who are intemperate.

If everybody would scrupulously observe the rules of hygiene, and so arrange his work that he could rest absolutely in the middle of the day, there would be little danger from the heat to persons of good health and strength. The body does not need much meat or stimulating food of any kind, and the great profusion of fresh fruits and vegetables should make the question of the table a simple one. Plenty of cool but not ice cold, water should be taken, for it helps to keep the blood pure, the circulation free, and the skin active. The activity of the skin indeed is the most important thing of all, for people who are perspiring freely do not stand in great danger from the heat. Those who can take Turkish baths are wise to do so, for the excessive perspiration they produce keeps the system in condition to withstand the heat.

Many find it difficult to sleep well in very hot weather. Let such persons discard the warm feather pillow for a w.r. ot-le, partly filled with cold water as it runs from the faucet, and they will find themselves rewarded by many an extra hour of refreshing sleep.

Finally, do not be panic-stricken when hot weather comes, but remember that the summer if encountered with ordinary common sense, is a fine favor, able to storing health rather than to losing it.

KITCHEN CABINETS AT ROARK'S.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts. He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh. It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

The proposed ordinance licensing dogs is receiving the support of a host of people, the most aggressive of whom are owners of dogs, who declare that they are anxious to pay the license, as it will no doubt cut out a lot of worthless curs, the owners of which will refuse to pay the tax.

The Hopkins county fair is in progress this week, and an extra strong list of premiums and attractions have been arranged. Kearny, the bird man, will give exhibition flights today and tomorrow, and gave one yesterday. Thousands of people are being drawn to the fair, many going from the city and county.

Richard Cullen, 70 years old, died suddenly in Louisville Tuesday morning from heart failure. He was well known here, and had many friends. He was the contractor of the Jones store house and also the Jones residence, on Cherry street. Mr. Cullen was a Confederate soldier, and served with distinction under Gen. John Morgan during the war. Interment will be in Cave Hill cemetery this morning.

Cheap Excursions Abandoned.

According to newspaper reports a few days ago, the L. C. has abandoned the running of cheap excursions of all kinds, giving as a reason that they have been losing money on them lately, owing to the increased cost of operation of trains. This will be a severe blow to many persons, who have traveled exclusively on these trains. Especially the $1.75 excursions to Louisville, several of which have been run each summer, have been heavily patronized, and the withdrawal will cut many persons off from visits to our metropolis. The usual summer reduced rates to watering places, markets, etc., are in effect, but that is one and a third fare, plus 25 cents, usually, and does not amount to much as a reduction, figuring over 2 cents a mile, and as most persons who travel to any extent use mileage, find that cheaper than the reduced rates.

Orien L. Roark was on business visit to Evansville the latter part of the week.

Mr. Paul Morgan is here from Little Rock, Ark., on a visit to his father, Mr. Geo. Morgan. He is still in the railroad business, traveling auditor, and is making good in the service.

$15 For 1876 Pennies.

One of our business men has been having considerable amusement the past few days. He quietly and rather confidentially let it be known to a few of his friends that he was anxious to secure a penny bearing the date 1876, and that he would pay $15 for them. Everybody took the cork, and secretly began a search for the coveted coin, which was of course soon found, and the lucky owner of the copper rushed into the numismatist's place of business and proudly exhibited the prize. The business man carefully looked in over, declared it was all right, and handed it back to the owner, who said "Well, I understand you are offering to pay $15 for 1876 pennies, and so I want to collect." The merchant took his time, looked serious and responded "Yes, that is what I said, and it is my rule to do as I say: now this penny as I told you, is O. K., and when you bring in the other 1875 you will surely be paid your money." Not one of the several persons who happened to be around had caught the idea, but they did at once, and the thrifty man who offered the coin would have given the $15 if he had known just a few minutes before what he learned then.

The Central Stores Co. is receiving goods, and will soon be ready for business in the Lam building, North Main street.

Congressman Thomas Here July 29.

Hon. R. V. Thomas, Jr., who as he expressed it recently when asked if he was standing for re-election, responded, "No, sir, I am running for re-election, and I am going to win the nomination and be sent as the representative in Congress again, too." Mr. Thomas is making an active campaign, hustling among the voters and making speeches all over the district. He will address the people of his home county at the court house next county court day at 1 o'clock, and everyone is urged to be present. Mr. Thomas has made the best representative of the people of this district have had in a quarter of a century, and his record is one of which any man might be proud, and one that will beyond doubt be endorsed.

The ice plant is being run at full speed now, and is barely holding its own against the extremely heavy demand made.

We have been asked the question how many umbrellas one must have to have one at the right place when it is raining. There is no answer.

There is a report that a new counterfeit $100 bill is being given considerable circulation. It should be easy, in the regular course of business, for almost any man to pass such a bill on any other man, for most of us handle so few of them that we hardly know what the blamed thing looks like.

There was quite an electrical and rain storm passed over the section Monday night. The visitation was a great relief from the oppressive heat of the day, and the shower will benefit the crops.

Street loafers have been scarce for several days, the extreme heat making it too much of a task for them to get out and show themselves at work, so they have stayed at home and out of the public gaze.

Dr. Wm. J. Mahoney has accepted the call to the Bell Avenue Baptist church at Knoxville, one of the largest congregations in that section, there being about 600 members and an enrollment of 1,000 in Sunday school. The attendance at service ranges from 800 to 1,200, the location of the church being in the best residence section of the city, situated near the National Park, on which the national government is spending some $2,000,000. The work is a most important one, and Mr. Mahoney's friends here are pleased at the signal recognition of his ability in the unanimous call extended him.

Death of Robert G. Mitchell.

Mr. Robert G. Mitchell, in his 60th year, died of acute indigestion at his home near Powderly at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, after an illness of only about thirty hours, he having been stricken Sunday night. His condition was dangerous from the beginning, and while every attention and service was rendered him no relief was afforded. Mr. Mitchell was a native of the county, and a man widely known and generally respected. He was a consistent member of the Methodist church, and his life was a most exemplary one in every respect. The funeral service was conducted at the home at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and interment was in Fairmount cemetery at Central City. Deceased is survived by his widow and the following children: Messrs. W. T. Edgar M., Ben and Henry Mitchell, who live at home and in Powderly, and Mrs. B. G. Harrington, who resides in Princeton. There are many relatives in this county. The community has lost a valuable citizen, who was a factor in the general progress and well being of his associates.

Baby buggies at Roark's.

Ye editor acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a collection of photographs from Prof. B. F. Allison, of Oakland, Calif. The views include the Reno House, a hotel that was a home to every man who entered its doors and sat at its well provided tables; also a view of Old Liberty church, as it appeared in 1900. Both these historic buildings are gone, the former burned and the church building wrecked. Prof. Allison is an old Mahlenberg boy who retains the deepest interest in the county, and his collection of Mahlenbergiana is more complete, varied and valuable than can be found in the county, perhaps.

Mr. Ridley Eaves, a well known, popular man, died at Powderly last Sunday, after a lingering illness. Interment was in the Eaves graveyard Monday afternoon, and was largely attended.

About 100 new Victor records were received by Roark this week. Drop in and hear the latest in popular and the most enduring of the standard productions, rendered by the world's best artists.

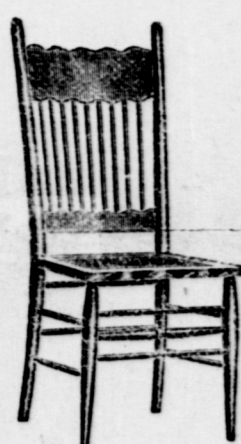

Voters are invited to hear Hon. R. V. Thomas speak here next county court day. There will be a large crowd in town, as farmers are getting easy as to time, most of the work being over now for a season.

Mr. John Williams has sold his Main street residence to Mrs. Kate Martin, the price being $2,500. The property is very desirable, and is one of the best on the street.

When Father is Boycotted

(Mrs. Colson-Sanderson suggests that when a husband does not agree with his wife on labor questions, she may bring him to time by boycotting him.)

Mother had a talk with father on the questions of the day. And found out, to her amazement, that he didn't think her way. So she argued, and she argued, but he would not be convinced. And she said, "I have an idea when her words should not be missed: She'd boycott him, she asserted, put him on the unfair list. And pay him no more attention than if he did not exist."

So she will not sew his buttons and she will not brush his hat. And she will not cook his breakfast—now, what do you think of that?—And she will not sit up for him when he stays down town at night. Though she used to wait and meet him with a welcome ray and bright—she's put a boycott on him, severely gives to him a glance. And she will not talk to father under any circumstance.

Father's bearing up quite bravely; when he reads the paper through. He will chuckle over all the advertisements spread to view. He will read of Monday bargains and of special sales of lace. With a genial expression on his cheerful, happy face: Mother hasn't gone a shopping since the boycott was declared. Father sits and reads the paper just as if he never cared.

Mother sits, reads the papers, reads the advertisements, too. And she sighs about the bargains that are up-to-date and new. And at times she looks at father with a frown upon her cheek. And we think that in a moment she'll begin again to speak—O, when real crying shopping strikes us, there will be the drama to pay. For then mother will surrender and say all she wants to say!

On the Other Hand. "Of course," says the loving and tender wife, "I do not want, or expect, you to give me something that you can't afford for Christmas. Why, it isn't the gift so much as it is the spirit in which it is given! Now, I should be just as happy if you gave me a simple little neck ribbon as if you gave me that diamond sunburst I showed you in the show window this afternoon, and I—"

Here she detects a peculiar glint in his eyes, and hurriedly continues: "But I just know it wouldn't make you half as happy to give me some little trinket as to give me something both lasting and beautiful. And I don't want you to consider my ideas at all, dear. Just consult your own wishes. I knew you would, so I laid them out the sunburst aside until you let them know whether to send it or not."

The Greatest Ever. "Sir, I have the greatest feature ever published in any magazine," says the nature author, rushing into the office of the magazine editor. "You have? What's it about?" asked the editor.

"It's an article on the cinnamon bear." "I'm afraid there isn't much public interest in bears or wolves or lynxes or anything like that just now." "But this is a scathing criticism of the cinnamon bear for not living up to characteristic given him by men who are accepted as final authorities on the intellectual and psychological attributes of cinnamon bears."

It Made a Difference. "No," he said, "I will not pay you for that quart of milk. My wife thought it was chalk mixture and gave it to the children for medicine." "Then," replied the honest milkman, "the bill will be $1.25. I used to be a druggist and prescription work costs money."

Every Incentive. Ask!—Why is Mrs. Flyteigh going on the stage? She has no dramatic talent, has she? "Well—No; but she got a divorce and ten new dresses last week."

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Raised Me From the Grave"—Mrs. Taylor

This is a strong statement to make, but it is exactly what Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Blum, Texas, said in expressing her opinion of this remedy.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine raised me from the grave and I have much confidence in it. I can never say enough for your grand medicines. If anyone had offered me $1000 for the second bottle of Nervine that I used I would have said 'no indeed.'"

MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR, Blum, Tex.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach, it works more powerfully than any other remedy, and Dr. Shoop's Restorative. With out that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting results could have been achieved. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and yellow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
